

Introducing PhD

Products Helping Dentistry.

A spotlight on products with a unique application to support your practice in one or more of these areas: Production, Efficiency, Appearance, Communication or Health

Try TF Adaptive In Your Office Today

Take control of root canal preparations with a durable, safe and easy-to-use system.

Why the TF Adaptive System?

- Unsurpassed Strength and Flexibility
- Decreased probability of separation
- Ultimate Control Rotary when you want it - reciprocating when you need it!
- Minimum Amount of Files Used
- Collaboration with the EndoVac

Ask your Atlanta Dental Representative for a complete in-office demonstration

Kerr
ENDODONTICS

Porter Silhouette Nasal Mask

A new Low Profile nitrous oxide nasal mask and breathing circuit
This will change your view of nitrous oxide

Parker Porter

- Unobstructed access to the oral cavity
- Adhesive strip to secure the mask to the bridge of the nose
- 4 sizes for a perfect fit on all patients
- Enhanced scavenging efficiency for reduced N2O exposure
- A predictable nitrous experience
- Single use disposable mask and circuit for improved infection control
- Easily retrofits to most flowmeters

Ask about a demonstration in your office and a free safety inspection of your nitrous system

COMPONEER™

The First Direct Composite Veneering System.

COLTENE

COMPONEER are polymerized, prefabricated nano-hybrid composite enamel shells that combine the advantages of direct composite restoration with the advantages of prefabricated veneers. This is the first perfected system to allow amazingly easy restoration of anterior teeth with customized composite shells.

- Easy step-by-step process that is more conservative than a porcelain prep
- Highly customizable because they are made from composite
- Excellent aesthetic results in one visit without impressions or lab work
- Patient cost is about 60% less than porcelain

*Ask about a full presentation in your office!

Contact your Atlanta Dental Representative or call 1.800.241.3743 for more information.

Atlanta Dental is an Employee Owned Company Dedicated to Supporting Your Practice.